What is Connecticut Withholding Tax? Withholding tax is the amount of employee's pay withheld by the employer and sent directly to the government as partial payment of state income tax. Every employer in Michigan who is required to withhold federal income tax under the Internal Revenue Code, must also be registered for and withhold Michigan income tax. Michigan law requires the administrators of pension and retirement benefits (includes most payments that are reported on a 1099-R) to withhold. If you are an employee, your employer probably withholds income tax from your pay. In addition, tax may be withheld from certain other income, such as pensions, bonuses, commissions, and gambling winnings. Overview of Wisconsin Taxes. Wisconsin workers are subject to a progressive state income tax system with four tax brackets. The tax rates, which range from 4% to 7.65%, are dependent on income level and filing status.
